

Alliance Fertilizers

The Standard of Excellence for Sixteen Years.

No good things were ever put on the market but what they were met with strong competition and even dishonest criticism by those who would aim to destroy their popularity.

Alliance Fertilizers are no exception to this rule. They have stood in the front rank of fertilizers for all these years as shown by the Annual Reports of the Sec. of State Board of Agriculture. This is just as true of our Goods put out last year as shown by the advanced reports we have received. Our Brands last year show an average of 90 cents a ton over our claims or an aggregate of $7.20. In other words for every eight tons of our goods bought by the farmers they received $7.20 more than we claimed to give them.

And this in the face of the fact that we sustained a severe loss by fire last spring just at the beginning of the shipping season which compelled us to resort to crude and imperfect methods of mixing as well as to give out a portion of our goods to be mixed by outside concerns. It is a matter of regret that through an injunction served on the State Board of Agriculture by certain Fertilizer interests who are evidently afraid to let facts be known in regard to their goods, the Report for 1907 has not yet been published. For we are never ashamed to have the facts known in regard to our goods. We did the next best thing—had a tabulated report published in the public press as taken from the advanced report we received from the Sec. of the State Board of Agriculture, which report we again insert.

With a new and up-to-date plant such as we now have we feel ourselves in a position to put out goods this year better than any time in our history. When we can not put out good honest goods we will quit the business. We wish to say to our old patrons and friends not to be led away by false and misleading statements of competing concerns but stay by the goods that have never failed you in results all these years. We guarantee absolutely all our goods to be as represented and authorize all our agents to do the same.

SHERWOOD

Belleves Prospects Good
For Democratic Success in Ohio

CONDITIONS HOPEFUL

Washington, D. C., March 30.—After a week's visit in Ohio Representative Isaac R. Sherwood, of Toledo, has returned to Washington, apparently more than ever convinced that the Democrats have an unusually promising prospect of carrying the state next fall. Besides canvassing the situation in the Ninth (Toledo) district, he went to Columbus and met many of the politicians there and from them learned much about conditions generally throughout Ohio.

"I never saw the conditions so hopeful for the Democratic party and I never saw the Republicans so demoralized and discouraged," he said. "In Toledo organized labor, now numbering over 8,000, all voters, are taking a referendum vote, and so far as heard from all the local unions have decided very nearly unanimously to go into politics this year. This vote in the past has been from 65 to 70 per cent Republican, and from a careful scrutiny I judge at least 90 per cent will be cast against Judge Taft should he be the presidential nominee. In this group there are about 1,200 avowed Socialists.

"For 10 years the Republicans, in the press and on the stump, have educated the people, especially the wage earner, that the party in power has made prosperity. Consequently, how can the party now escape responsibility for the prevailing depression? There were 500 destitute and hungry men in the line for public charity, in front of the courthouse in Toledo, on Monday last. It was the saddest human picture I have seen for years.

NEGROES AGAINST TAFT.
"The colored voters of Toledo number about 850, and from what I was told not over 100 will vote for Taft, who, it seems, will be nominated. The president's back-down on the Brownsville affair has not helped matters, while Secretary Taft, in a speech not yet 10 days old, justified his order of dismissal of the colored troops without honor on the ground that 'the innocent must suffer for the good of the service.' This is a new doctrine in both ethics and jurisprudence.

"I heard reports by responsible representatives from some 20 counties in Ohio, while in Columbus, and the opinion was general that the disaffection of organized labor over the recent decisions of the supreme court, the opposition to both the president and his war secretary by the colored voters, the serious business depression on account of the panic, the war of the Republican factions—Taft and anti-Taft, Foraker and anti-Foraker—in every county, and the growth of the spirit of independence among voters of the higher intelligence, make Democratic success in Ohio not only probable, but reasonably certain, especially if Secretary Taft should be the presidential nominee. The opposition to Taft among the organized wage workers is not because he is President Roosevelt's candidate, but because of his early decisions when United States circuit judge, in the Ann Arbor and Cincinnati bricklayers' injunction suits.

"I heard many prominent Republicans of Toledo say they hoped Democracy would nominate a clean and capable state ticket, and if they did the whole Republican state ticket would go down. Some thought Governor Harris would run ahead of most of the state ticket, but others said the governor would lose more in the cities than he would gain in the country. I think from what I could learn that the leading Republicans of independent proclivities regard Ohio as doubtful this year. Several Republicans of statewide reputation advised me to be a candidate for governor, with the added remark that this was going to be a good year for Democrats.

"I think the president's last message has weakened him in the estimation of his most ardent devotees. It is so materially and radically different from his January message that it is hard to believe it was the concoction of the same brain. His message to the senate making practically a square backdown on the dismissal of the colored troops and his appeal for authority to reinstate them, his change of attitude on the tariff, as proclaimed in his regular message on December 4 last, his change of attitude and practical truce with the railroad magnates and his recent efforts to conciliate Wall street in the interest of Secretary Taft, through Senator Aldrich, of Rhode Island, and ex-Governor Herrick, of Ohio, have created the impression, at least in Washington official circles, that the president is playing high politics, rather than continuing the role of slayer of bad trusts and the annihilator of the predatory rich. This is certainly a growing conviction among a goodly number of close students and admirers of the so-called Roosevelt policies. As remarked only yesterday by a leading Republican up in the house, there is no 'big stick' in the president's last message. He has eliminated all talk about campaign contributions and made a truce with the big trusts."

General Sherwood has decided, after conferring with friends at home, to be a candidate for re-nomination for congress. Upon political developments of the next six or eight months will depend whether or not he becomes a candidate for United States senator to succeed Mr. Foraker.

COURT NEWS

Frank J. Snyder has filed suit through his attorney, W. J. Piero, for $150 damages against Frederick Zmoo and others. The parties to the suit were interested in a real estate proposition in which the plaintiff claims he was damaged in the sum asked for in the suit.

C. R. Van Voy has filed suit in common pleas court asking that a receiver be appointed for the New Ohio-Kentucky Oil company. It is alleged that a judgment against the company for $165 was obtained and that settlement has not yet been made.

The temporary injunction which restrained the county commissioners with proceeding with the erection of a concrete bridge to replace the iron and steel structure on Tremont street in Massillon was yesterday made permanent by Judge Harter after attorneys in the case had been consulted and announced their willingness that this decision be made. As a result of Judge Harter's action the incident is practically closed.

The application for the injunction grew out of the commissioners making a contract with E. J. Landor for a two span concrete bridge. It was contended by Massillon authorities that the bridge would make conditions in time of flood worse than ever and the county taxpayers' league held that the contract had not been legally made.

It is not probable now that the commissioners will take any action toward replacing the Tremont street bridge with a new structure until Massillon people have been consulted and the commissioners learn just what is wanted there.

Annual Reunion at Sunny-Side.
The patrons of District No. 11, known as Sunny-Side, in Canton township, held their annual reunion last Friday, it being the last day of the winter term of school. At about 11:15 o'clock, the teacher, Elbert Van Voorhis, brought the class recitations to a close. After a cordial greeting of patrons, teacher and superintendent a sumptuous dinner was prepared by the ladies, and which was greatly relished. In the afternoon the following program was rendered: Songs by the school, under the direction of Supt. L. L. Delap; recitations and dialogues by the pupils; a vocal solo, by Mrs. Hettie Blair, and short addresses by Mrs. Brothers and Charles Oyer, commending the work done by the teacher and superintendent. Mr. Van Voorhis in behalf of the school, expressed his sincere thanks to the patrons for their co-operation and preparation in making it a day to be remembered.

OBJECT TO WOOL TIED WITH SISAL

Wool growers in this vicinity will be interested in the following suggestions from one of the leading wool merchants of Boston. The advice is particularly applicable at this time, and especially to Ohio:

"Do not tie your wool with sisal or binder twine. Manufacturers and dealers in the east are up in arms against this practice. The manufacturer is more and more unwilling to accept from the dealer wool where the fleeces are tied with sisal, or binder twine, and the time has come when the buyer of wool must discriminate against this kind of twine. In untying the fleeces it is impossible to remove this kind of twine without leaving some of the fibres in the wool, and this causes a defect in the goods, when made, to the annoyance and expense of the manufacturer, who has to put such pieces of goods into his seconds. It leaves white or yellow streaks throughout the goods, as it will not take any dye. A farmer buying a piece of woolen goods, either black or colored, would hardly accept a piece streaked with white or yellow.

"A farmer who insists on tying up his wool with binder twine will run the risk of having it rejected altogether or be obliged to stand a reduction of several cents a pound. Wool should be tied with small, hard twine that will not rub off.

"Ohio wool and wool of adjoining states, is the best and strongest wool in the world, but it is put up in the most careless manner of any wool grown anywhere.

"Will not the farmer co-operate with the dealer and manufacturer in putting Ohio wool back where it once was, the most popular wool in the world?"

Burns Says He Hasn't Quit.
Constable E. C. Burns of Justice Blake's court has taken exceptions to the item in the News that he has quit his job as constable and that his place is being filled by Nathan Holloway who was a candidate for the office of justice of the peace at the last election. Mr. Burns states that it is untrue that he has quit his position. Justice Blake was seen yesterday and he stated that Burns had not resigned but that he was working for his brother at the latter's meat market and had been for some time. Mr. Holloway is acting as deputy to Mr. Burns according to Justice Blake, as Mr. Burns is dissatisfied with the place.
